ELECTIONS FOR THE STUDENTS' COUNCIL TO TAKE PLACE TO-DAY EXCEPT IN ARTS WHICH ARE POSTPONED UNTIL TO-MORROW

Close Contests Expected in Three Faculties—Four Candidates in Science—Lectures in Arts Cancelled This Afternoon Owing to Death of Dean Harkness and Elections Will be Held To-morrow—Two Contestants in Dentistry.

Today between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. the student body will exercise their prerogative of voting for faculty representatives on the Student's Council. The competition is keen in the different faculties and they have put up good men for the vacant positions. The fact that two of the Faculties have returned their representatives unopposed, goes to show that the affairs of the students will be in the hands of men who have shown their executive ability before. The two faculties that have returned these men are Law and Medicine. Their representatives are S. D. Pierce and T. R. Delahay, respectively.

From the enthusiasm prevalent around the campus it is evident that this will be one of the biggest votes that has ever been counted at this university. The three faculties that remain to elect their representatives are Arts, Dentistry, and Science. In Arts the elections have been postponed till Tuesday owing to the death of Dean Harkness but in the other faculties the elections will be held as scheduled.

The platforms of the candidates for to-day's elections are:

FRITZ THALMAN SPOKE AT "SING"

Gave Graphic Description of Student Life in Europe

Those who attended the Sunday Night Sing at the Hall last night found a rare treat in store for them in the form of an informal talk by an Austrian student, Fritz Thalman. Mr. Thalman is studying at present at the University of Toronto and is visiting McGill for the next few days in connection with the European Student Relief Fund.

On his talk last night he gave a vivid description of conditions in European Universities and told of the student life there in a most fascinating way. The dollar, contributed to European Student Relief, he said does not stop when the actual physical distress of the students has been somewhat alleviated. He showed in his own inimitable way that this is the beginning and that a spirit of self-help is fostered and European Students have been drawn together in a way that never otherwise would have been possible. The greatest result however, is the "birth of an international spirit," a desire of nations to get to know and understand other nations

DR. JAMES HARKNESS

THE Congregation at the University Service yesterday morning stood while the Rev. Principal Fraser paid the following tribute to the memory of Dr. Harkness, Acting-Dean of the Faculty of Arts.

The passing of Dr. James Harkness was tragic in its suddenness and everyone connected with the University who had come in contact with him in any way carries today a heavy heart. The Principal with whom he consulted on academic affairs that affected the Arts students has lost an adviser whose practical judgment on questions of administration was sound and trustworthy. The Deans of the other Faculties who conferred with him on matters of common interest feel keenly their loss of a fellow worker who was absolutely fair in seeking an harmonious adjustment of the plans, so liable to be conflicting, of the various departments of the University. His colleagues in the Faculty of Arts were almost stunned by the unexpected news of the death of their scholarly, gentle, loyal comrade. For the student, "the Dean's office under his supervision had no terrors, for they found him invariably accessible, just with a leaning to leniency, anxious to discover their point of view, a friend as well as a master. The officers of administration and their assistants will never forget the quiet, unobtrusive personality who went so modestly and yet so efficiently about his duties. The man who served at manual labour in the college yard will miss the familiar figure whose intellectual preoccupations did not prevent his friendly greeting. He was a sort of spiritual presence about the old Arts building, and he will live in the living memory of all who served with him—I should not say from the highest to the lowest, for with him there was no high or low in persons or in tasks; he treated all persons as his fellows and he regarded all bits of honest work as contributions of essential value to the service of mankind.

Representing the affiliate Colleges, I met him frequently and I always found him the same, anxious to meet me more than half way, taking his duty rather than standing on his rights, not assertive of his authority, personally and not merely officially interested in the causes and solutions of the welfare of the students under discussion. I never came away from him without the feeling that there was no reasonable questioning of his decisions.

McGill University has added another to its enriching traditions in the memory of Dean Harkness, as a man, a gentleman, a scholar whose special studies did not arrest his broad culture and catholic sympathies, a good teacher, an administrator quite free from inordinate ambition and ulterior motives, a faithful servant who accepted any task that was assigned to him as the welfare of our Alma Mater with no thought of personal promotion or material reward, above all a sincere and gentle spirit in a large frame whose characteristic kindness may be well emulated by those of us who must still carry on.

VOTE WITH CARE

To-day the undergraduates in two faculties, Dentistry and Science, are called upon to choose their representatives on the Students' Council, the organization governing the student body. On account of the funeral of the late Dr. Harkness, the Arts' voting takes place to-morrow. The importance of this event in the university world cannot possibly be over-stressed and, as far as we are concerned ourselves, should be approached with all the gravity and seriousness of a national election. To some ears this will sound absurd but let those who smile at this statement remember that the Council is the foremost group of men in the student realm and, if complete satisfaction—such a thing being possible—is to be obtained, the members must stand out prominently among their fellow students. They should be all-round men, possessing those qualities, which are essential to the highest type of university student. By this we mean they should have good executive ability, keen foresight, sound judgment, absolute honesty, a broad general knowledge of college affairs, a true interest in their own faculties and an overwhelming desire to work for the good of the entire university. They should be able to see much farther than the boundaries of the group which they represent, and finally they should have won the right to sit on the Council by hard work and untiring efforts for the fellow students.

In Science and Dentistry the issues of the day are clear and the voters should have no great difficulty in casting their ballots conscientiously. But in the Faculty of Arts the time-old party question will undoubtedly again come into play to-morrow. Until Commerce becomes a separate faculty this tendency to vote according to registration will at least make an effort to appear on election days but, in the spirit of fairness and common sense, this disturbing element should be killed quickly and buried in a deep, deep grave. We know that the two men in the Arts race are fine candidates but we would ask the students throughout the entire Faculty to think over the whole matter seriously; come to a perfectly unbiased conclusion; and vote accordingly. It is high time that the party system of voting came to an end in Arts and we hope with all earnestness that we shall witness the funeral ceremonies to-morrow.

And in conclusion we would say: "Cast your votes early, cast it honestly, and see that the very best men obtain office."

DEAN HARKNESS

McGill has suffered a very severe loss in the sudden death of Acting-Dean Harkness of the Faculty of Arts, and one which has more than a tinge of personal sorrow to the undergraduates of that faculty. Dr. Harkness had been a member of the Faculty for twenty years, having assumed the Redpath Professorship of Pure Mathematics in 1903. A man of wide scholarship, and of catholic taste for the best in literature, art and music, Dean Harkness gave his students the benefits, not only of his rare teaching ability, but also of the earnestness, sympathy and keen humour which were characteristic of the man, and which were responsible for the great esteem in which he was held by all who came in contact with him. "He was," said Sir Arthur Currie, "a man who was always willing to do more than his share, just, fair, and honorable." This is a fine tribute, and one which is worthy of a man who has devoted his life to the pursuit of science and the instruction of youth.

THE GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Tonight one of the leading musical societies of the University is to make its first appearance of the season before the public, when the Glee Club will present its concert in the Royal Victoria College. Those who have heard the performances of this organization in the past will not need to be urged to attend, but for those music lovers who have not yet had the good fortune of hearing these stellar singers it may not be out of place to let them know the high quality of work that may be expected. The Glee Club held its first practice on October the fourth, and have been working hard and consistently since that date. The programme to be rendered is an interesting one, and the concert is certain to draw a large audience.

The Glee Club is doing more, perhaps, than any other student organization to cater to the musical interests of the College, and it is reasonable to expect that their efforts will meet with the support of the undergraduates to the large extent that their merit deserves.

WOMEN KNOW MORE UP TO AGE OF 25

Women are more intelligent than men up to the age of 25 but after this age is reached the men gradually pass the women in mental efficiency, according to the statistics compiled by the University of Arizona.

Prof. Alva O. Neal, university registrar and professor of rural education, says that high school and college girls show more aptitude for study than high school and college boys. A 14 year-old girl has the mentality of a 16-year-old boy, and this proportion continues until the age of 25 is reached, said Professor Neal.

The men as adults, attain more of the sense of their longer period of infancy during which they gain more knowledge at all.—Ex.

preparation than the women. The women mature more rapidly than men but are handicapped by their shorter period of adolescence after they are 25.

The women's lack of necessity for competition may be another factor, Professor Neal pointed out. From this point of view, they "have suffered from too much protection." In biology, he explains, it is shown that protected animals, those who do not have to be self-reliant in meeting adverse conditions, fail to reach the high state of development attained by those fighting ahead single-handed.

"It's better to have kissed and caught a cold than never to have kissed at all.—Ex.

PHENOMENUM IN BIRD LIFE SEEN AT R.V.C.

On the eighth of December, at noon time, in front of the R. V. C., observers of bird-life were startled by the great excitement that prevailed among dozens of sparrows. High up among the "damp branches" of the leafless trees these little scavengers of ours, audacious little gamblers that they are,—were closely following, or surrounding, midst noisy twitterings, a bird of many names; the Flicker, which is the largest of our woodpeckers, and whose sudden presence here at this time of the year created a great sensation.

Its beautiful plumage was clearly visible, with the red crescent across the back of its neck, and the black crescent on its breast. It was known to be a male by its black cheek-patches which are not found on the female. Looked at from below the conspicuous yellow of its wings and the also conspicuous brown and white of its plumes stood out against the still green grass, while it was feeding on the ground,—characteristics which are not shared by its relations.

It did not sound the well-known, long sonorous call heard in spring-time, but used only that sharp, short call which is always heard when feeding on the ground along with his mate.

A strange season for it to look for grub. Perchance it could peek out some minnows from the hidden recesses of the old tree-trunks. Look! months in Italy and South France, will spend the winter in Mentone and Sicily, and will return to Canada in April or May.

R.V.C. MUSIC CLUB MEET ON THURSDAY

The next meeting of the Music Club promises to be very interesting. Folk Songs are to be the feature of this meeting on Thursday afternoon in the R.V.C. Common Room.

Folk Songs are well known and their origin and composition as well as the actual rendering of these songs should interest everyone. Miss Lat. ner is to give a paper on "English Scotch, and Irish Folk Songs," which will be intellectually beneficial as well as entertaining.

The club will also have the pleasure of hearing Miss Matheson again. She will sing a few well-known songs such as "Robin Adair" and "Annie Laurie." Then everybody will join in the folk songs, printed in the McGill Song Book. As a fitting climax tea will be served at the end of the meeting.

So, everyone is asked to bring her song book and come prepared to enjoy an hour's good entertainment.

SENIOR BASKETBALL SQUAD WIN BIG GAME OF SEASON

Red and White Squad Defeat Winged Wheelers—Score 25-12—Appreciative Audience—Good Brand of Basketball—Manson Stars for McGill—Saunders Plays Well for M.A.A.A.

The Senior basketball squad got away to a good start on Saturday by defeating the M. A. A. A. quintette by a score of 25 to 12 in an exhibition game. The game was played in the Peel Street gym. of the Winged Wheelers. For the winners "Bozo" Manson at centre was outstanding and scored a number of baskets from different angles. D. Saunders starred for the Peel Street aggregation.

Following the game between M. S. P. E. and the ladies of the M. A. A. A. the McGill basketballers had to work hard to attempt to equal the record set by their predecessors when the Physical Eds. were victorious to the tune of 23-5.

There were a large number of McGill rooters along the sidelines and the supporters of the two sides vied with one another in cheering their favoured sides on to victory. The game was clean throughout although a few personal fouls were made, due no doubt to awkwardness, as this was the first game of the season.

McGill got away with a bad start. The M. A. A. A. forwards broke through several times. The defense tightened up and Winged Wheelers were forced to shoot at long range for the rest of the game. It took the college team some little time to break down their opponent's defense, which was very strong. For the first ten minutes or so the Red and White men experienced great difficulty in getting into good shooting position, their passes were intercepted and checking was very effective. However, their combination playing soon became more precise with telling effects.

Not long after the game had started, the score was 5-5 for M. A. A. A. The Winged Wheelers retained their lead for quite awhile, but before the first period ended, three goals were made by McGill, making the score 11-5 in their favour.

During the second period the McGill quintette had the upper hand. Their opponents scored only one goal, a very good, long-range shot by Saunders. Two fouls were also scored by them. McGill's passing and team-work came to the fore, and while playing a good game and putting up a stiff battle, the efforts of the M. A. A. A. were of no avail.

For the winners "Slippy" Manson, the popular centre, played a very good game. The playing of Amaron and Little was very effective. D. Saunders starred for the Blue and Red. Gronau played well.

LABOUR PARTY TO FOSTER RADICAL BILL

New Party Proposes Enfranchisement of the R.V.C.

LEFT WING

Organization Meeting to be Held in Music Room of the Union at 6 o'clock

When Mock Parliament reassembles for its second session on December 18, the cross benches will be occupied by a third party if the plans which are being prepared for the organization of a Labour Party are brought to maturity. The recent successes of the British laborites have proven a great stimulus to the new party and has aroused an interest and enthusiasm about the venture that is unprecedented in Parliamentary circles at McGill.

The final formation of the Labor policies and the course of action to be pursued at the next session of the Parliament will be determined at a meeting to be held in the Music Room at the Union today at six o'clock. An outline of the Labour platform will be made public through the official organ of the country the McGill Daily within the next few days and in the meantime the electors await the announcement with expectancy tinged with a trace of impatience.

The confidence of the leaders of the new party is most encouraging. They feel sure that their platform will appeal to every sincere and broad-minded elector who has at heart the interests of the country. There seems to be an increasing number of voters who view with despair the state to which the country has been brought by the misgovernment of the misguided professional politicians in whose hands of the government was placed at the last session by a very narrow majority.

Among other drastic changes and improvements that the new party has in mind it is rumored that it intends to bring before the House a Bill for the enfranchisement of the members of the Royal Victoria College in the very near future. Up to the

OVERWHELMING VICTORY FOR M.S.P.E. TEAM

Basketball Season Opens With Defeat to M.A.A.A.

SCORE 39-3

Game Characterized by Brilliant Team-work

By a score of thirty-nine to three, the M. S. P. E. basketballers evinced a decided superiority over their M. A. A. A. opponents in the first match of the season. The deadly accuracy of the forwards Miss Tallow and Miss McTaggart accounted for eighteen field goals and three free shots in the course of the evening. In this connection it should be remembered that in Women's rules forwards only are permitted to shoot and that they are also forced to stay in their own section of the field. The forwards

At the present time, McGill students who read the newspapers will have seen much space devoted to the tuberculosis problem. This is an important question, and one which has been creating something of a furore in local newspapers and other circles. It will be of interest to friends of the University that this wide-spread pandemic menace to health is now receiving more specialized attention than was possible in the old days when it was taught only in the wards, along with the other diseases coming under

The team last night worked like a well-oiled machine and it is impossible to single out any section for special praise. The M. A. A. The game was handled in a most satisfactory manner by Miss Haslam of the Y. W. C. A., and Miss D. Caldwell, a graduate of M. S. P. E. who is now teaching at Westhill High school.

The game was played in the M. A. A. gym. Peel St. at eight o'clock on Friday evening before a large audience. The M. S. P. E. girls were in fine form and had the ad-

For the first time, students in the final year of Medicine are receiving clinics, in small groups, at the Royal Edward Institute, Belmont Park, during the trimester devoted to Medicine. The great value of the work is that the students learn to diagnose incipient tuberculosis much more thoroughly than heretofore, and have excellent opportunities to improve their knowledge of the percussion and other diagnostic aids which will indicate the earlier and more elusive stages of the dread disease.

Interviewed by the Daily, Dr. Martin, Dean of the Faculty and Professor of Medicine, stated that so far the new method was most satisfactory to him. He said that one should not get the idea that the detection and prevention of tuberculosis had never

DEAN J. HARKNESS PASSED AWAY LATE FRIDAY NIGHT

Was in Fifty-ninth Year—Death Was Sudden and Due to Heart Failure—Had Been in Good Health—Popular Professor Was Author of Well-known Mathematical Works—Lectures in Faculty of Arts Cancelled on Monday Afternoon to Enable Students to Attend Funeral From Christ Church Cathedral at 2.30.

The death occurred shortly after midnight last Friday, at his late residence, 23 Lorne Avenue, of James Harkness M.A. (Cantab. and London), LL.D., F.R.S.C., Acting Dean of the Faculty of Arts. Death, which came suddenly, was caused by heart failure. Dr. Harkness and his wife had been entertaining some friends Friday evening, shortly after they left, he went upstairs alone, and a little while after, Mrs. Harkness and her brother who was with them, on going to the second floor found that Dr. Harkness had passed away. He was in his 59th year.

The late Dean was the son of John H. Harkness and was born at Derby, England on January 24, 1864. He received his primary education at Derby School, going later to Cambridge University. In 1908 he married Katherine Emily, daughter of the Rev. W. H. Cam of Bishop's Stretford, Herts, England, who survives him along with three children, John aged 14, who is at present studying in England, Ursula, aged 8 and Roger, aged 5. A brother, Rev. W. Harkness resides at present at Hantslope, Northamptonshire, England.

WAS EIGHTH WRANGLER. In 1882 the late Dr. Harkness was elected to an entrance major scholarship at Cambridge University, graduating as eighth wrangler in the mathematical tripos. In 1888 he was appointed to a mathematical position on the staff of Bryn Mawr College, Pennsylvania, where from 1896 to 1903 he held the full professorship of mathematics. From 1903 till the time of his death he has been Peter Redpath professor of pure mathematics at McGill University. Dr. Harkness was a member of the American Mathematical Society and of the London Mathematical Society, being at one time president of the American Society. In 1908 he was elected a fellow of the Royal Society of Canada. He was also a member of the University Club.

The late Dean was also a past member of the McGill Contingent Canadian Officers Training Corps, in which he served as a private during the years 1914-15. He is described by Major W. V. Howard, at that time Lieutenant in command, number six platoon, of which Dr. Harkness was a member as being one of the best soldiers in the unit.

Dr. Harkness enjoyed an excellent reputation as a mathematician both in Europe and America and is the co-author of several well known mathematical books, among which is "The Theory of Functions" written in conjunction with Professor Frank Morley of John Hopkins University. He was also the author of the article on "Elliptic Functions" which appears in the Encyclopedia of Mathematics published under the supervision of the Academies of Vienna, Göttingen and Munich. He was likewise associate editor of the Transactions of the American Mathematical Society.

HONORARY LL.D. DEGREE.

In 1921, at the time of the Centennial at McGill, the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon him. Dr. Harkness was acting dean of the Faculty of Arts during the session 1920-21, and until January 1st, 1922 and again from October 1st, 1923 till the time of his death on Friday night.

At the University, the late dean served on several committees, including in which are, Physics Building Committee, Arts Building Committee, Scholarship Committee, Rooms Committee, Summer Readings Committee, Matriculation Committee and the Committee on Commercial Studies.

Dr. Harkness had been in good health for the last few years and had been feeling well during the past weeks. When younger he was fond of athletics, being a particularly good tennis player.

SIR ARTHUR'S EULOGY.

Speaking of the loss which the University had suffered, Sir Arthur on Saturday morning, said, "Dr. Harkness will be very greatly missed. He was one of the outstanding members of the faculty of McGill. His scholarship, his teaching ability, his earnestness, modesty, and keen sympathy, made him generally popular. He was a man who was always willing to do more than his share. Just, fair and honorable, he possessed great influence over everyone with whom he came in contact. When I came to McGill he was acting dean of the Faculty of Arts, and since the departure of Dean Laing he has again been fulfilling those duties. His death will be generally regretted."

The funeral service will be held from Christ Church Cathedral, St. Catherine St. West, on Monday afternoon at 2.30. Lectures in the Faculty of Arts have been cancelled this afternoon in order to allow students and professors to attend the funeral.

Lectures in Arts were called off Saturday morning and numerous University Social events scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening were postponed.

EUROPEAN STUDENT RELIEF CAMPAIGN

Appeal is Made to the Undergraduate Body URGENT NEED

Student Conditions in Germany in Appalling State

As the name would suggest, and as probably most Canadian students already know, the European Student Relief Society has been formed with the object of collecting subscriptions for the Student Relief Fund. This will go to relieve students who are suffering from hunger and ill health on account of the appalling food and health conditions in Europe to-day, especially in Germany and Russia. Canadians have no real conception of the awful state of affairs in those countries. The food condition in worse in Dresden and Berlin than it was in Austria in 1920, when the student relief work was begun. The people are facing hunger—not shortage, but real hunger. There would be no university work in Germany this year if the students could get other work; but this is impossible and so they come back to their studies. Miss Ruth Rouse, who takes an active part in students' relief work, says "It is ghastly to have educated, cultured women lying in wait for you in the streets, begging you to buy their possessions."

As can be concluded from this, the health conditions are very bad, but it is impossible to obtain statistics for the students will not report disease. If they did, they would find it difficult to obtain a room or to get work. Tuberculosis is very common amongst the students, this is due to ill housing and not enough wholesome food.

The currency conditions in Germany are indescribable—a man who received his salary in the morning found that it had lost three-quarters of its value by night.

Unless relief comes, thousands of students will die of starvation, but goods are required as well as money.

Those who heard Dr. Nansen speak a few days ago at the R.V.C. will remember that he spoke of the European Student Relief Society and asked McGill University to do all in its power to support it.

Such men as Lord Robert Cecil and Mr. Herbert Hoover have co-operated with the organization for the relief of the students.

Mr. Conrad Hoffman, the executive secretary for European Student Relief, recently visited Toronto, which is the headquarters for the Society. Unfortunately Mr. Hoffman could not come to Montreal. The McGill students have not had the opportunity of hearing him, but that need not prevent them from going ahead and supporting the Society.

The S.C.A. will represent the Student Relief Society at McGill and any subscriptions should be sent to it. It is hoped that the McGill undergraduate body will show its sympathy and interest by liberal contributions.

Mr. T. W. L. MacDermot and Frank Scott both Oxford graduates have kindly consented to act as judges for today's debate.

Mr. MacDermot is acting as coach for the team to represent McGill against Varsity, Queens, and the other Universities, and will add in the selection of the Science team.

It is hoped that all men in the Faculty will come out and support their year representatives in the debate.

"GOD AND MY NEIGHBOUR" IS SUNDAY TOPIC

University Church Service at the Union

PROFESSOR WARD

Tribute to the Late Dr. Harkness

"Jesus defined religious duty in terms of service to human need." In these arresting words Professor Ward summed up his sermon at the University church service, at the Union, yesterday morning. Professor Ward is Professor of Christian Ethics, Union Theological Seminary of New York. Taking as his text the words of Jesus, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and all thy soul, and all thy mind, and thy neighbour as thyself," Dr. Ward built up in a masterly fashion his exposition of the subject, and at his conclusion, "we must go as far into the heart of man and in sacrifice as he went."

The service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Fraser, Principal of the Presbyterian College, while Sir Arthur Currie read the lessons. The hymns had all been picked to make them in keeping with the subject of the sermon. Music for the singing was supplied by the Mandolin Club.

While the congregation stood, in a short address, Dr. Fraser paid a tribute, full of feeling, to the late Dr. Harkness who passed away on Saturday. Dr. Fraser spoke of the sense of loneliness which the death of the late acting-dean had occasioned. He spoke of the quiet, sympathetic, scholarly gentleman and mentioned the feeling of sorrow and of emptiness because of his absence. His life may well be emulated by those who are left.

The title of the sermon was, "God and my Neighbour." Man has always reached out to commune with the infinite, and secondly there has been an out-reaching of the spirit of man to man. Religion has emphasized these things in varying proportions. Jesus stressed them equally. He had a sense of relationship to the Eternal One and worked it out in relationship with his fellow-men. He worked out in the connection of these two necessities and showed how they work together to the same end. They are really two aspects of the same thing. Jesus defined religious duty in terms of service to human need. This is Jesus' most remarkable contribution to human thinking and learning. In this he fulfilled the law and the prophets.

There has been too much dividing of the sciences in vertical divisions. It is wrong to divide morals and religion, or Worship and Service. There should be no line of demarcation between Sacred and Secular or Ethics and Theology. The priest has always tried to confine the worship of God to creed and ritual; the prophet brings worship into everyday life and makes it real instead of mere formalities. At a time when ceremonial was at its height, Jesus put this penetrating question, "Who hath required that ye cut up my courts with sacrifices." The sacrifices are worthless when there is injustice in the land without any attempt to right the wrong. Though you stretch forth thine hand all the day long and make many prayers, I will turn away mine eyes. Do justice and show mercy and walk humbly before God."

The parable of the good Samaritan was expounded and it was shown how the priest and the Levite who were so bound up with the Temple ritual that they failed to see the needs of their fellow-man and hence did not find God on the Jericho road. Yet a man of a race which the religious leaders of Israel considered outcasts forever was able to see the needs of a sufferer and find what the religious leaders of the day had missed.

"What are the standards of admission to the churches? Are they the test of the day of judgment? Have they set the flame test which Jesus set in Matt. 25. Is it necessary to tend the sick and feed the hungry? These things should be more widely understood by individual Christians. Organizations to help delinquents are of value but it is better to remove the causes of the delinquency."

As an American, Dr. Ward said the policy of isolation and disinterestedness to suffering Europe was very similar to the action of the priest and the Levite. Aid to France and Germany will necessitate more than merely sending over food and clothing.

War not only destroys the body but also cuts us off from Christ because we are only able to partially realize Jesus' conception of our proper relationship. The idea of the brotherhood of man is entirely destroyed by war. God only works out his kingdom here on earth. It is in the ordinary tasks of life that God is to be found. The war has left this generation low in its faith. What the world will be depends on us.

Jesus was a barrier-smasher. At first he was a rabbi with few people and belonging to a very exclusive people. Gradually he broke down the barriers and finally he included the Gentile in his fold. In the development of Jesus, we see at first the boy

To my Friends and Supporters:—

I wish to express to you my sincere appreciation of the honour, you have done me in presenting me, as a candidate, for Dental representative on the Student's Council, in the forthcoming election. It is very satisfying to know, that having been tried in a number of capacities, on different executives, as I have been in the past, you still have confidence in my ability. This trust I shall endeavour not to betray.

Thanking you for your loyal support, I am,

FACILITIES FOR STUDY OF TUBERCULOSIS

been taught here before. It has a very large number of the patients in the Outdoors of the Hospitals have T.B., and these are given treatment. But the new arrangements are enabling the students to gain a knowledge of the work in the Outdoors of a T.B. Institute and to receive more thorough instruction than was before possible. Questioned as to the possibility of ever sending the students to such institutions as the Sanatorium at Ste. Agathe, Professor Martin gave as his opinion that the benefit derived from a protracted stay of some weeks or a month would be more than counterbalanced by the loss of coordination in the course. In the Undergraduate years at McGill the aim has always been to turn out all-round men who will be qualified to go into general practice or, if they so desire, to concentrate on any of the specialties after graduation.

The teaching work is under the supervision of Dr. J. R. Byers and Dr. E. S. Harding both of whom are leaders in the fight against the "great white plague." The former is the new chairman of the medical board of the Institute while the latter is the secretary. The students in their trimester devoted to Medicine attend the outdoor clinics of the Institute in groups of eight, for two hours at a time, in rotation. In an ordinary two hour period a student will see three cases and will get a very good working knowledge of the practice of the Institute. With the size of the present final year it has only been possible for each man to be present at the clinics twice. Dr. Martin stated that the work is only in its experimental stage and that the teaching will be further developed in the way that experience will show to be advisable.

Some of the final year Meds, when questioned felt that the course had been well worth while. As one laconically put it, "It is easy enough to diagnose tuberculosis when even the neighbors know about it but it is not so easy in the earlier stages." The men feel that the time spent at this series of clinics, short as it necessarily is, will help to equip them to catch the disease at a time when treatment will likely be of the most benefit.

OVERWHELMING VICTORY FOR M.S.P.E. TEAM

vantage from the beginning over their smaller, lighter and less experienced opponents. The first basket was scored by M. S. P. E. within fifteen seconds of the start, and for a time the ball passed in a circle from Misses Slack and Perry in centre to the forwards, to the basket and back to centre. The game throughout the first half was swift and clean; several double fouls were given but foul shooting on both sides was weak. M. S. P. E. kept the scorers from dozing and left the score at half time with a score of 32-0 to their credit.

In the second half M. A. A. A. stiffened up considerably and the McGill guards were given a chance to show their worth: the ball passed evenly up and down the field but Miss "Pop" Pulkinhorn and Miss Slack on defense, cleared splendidly and allowed few shots to get by them. Miss Brown finally scored the first point for M. A. A. A. on a foul, but shortly after she was obliged to leave the field on account of a sprained foot. Miss Taylor who replaced her, shot a field goal in the last moments of the game, leaving a total score of 39-3 in favour of M. S. P. E.

Both Miss Cartwright and Mr. Van Wagner expressed satisfaction at the showing made by M. S. P. E. and predicted a successful season for them. The team is composed entirely of students of the graduating year with the exception of Miss Tallow who comes from British Columbia where she played for U. B. C. The girls playing last night were of course, the pick of the School basketball-balls, but there is excellent material for three or four teams, from which players will be able to replace gaps left by graduations in May.
